

My Time Line

Do not let one more day or one more memory go by! Start your time line today!

Get a long roll of white butcher paper. Draw a line down the middle. Start at the front of the line with a zero (0) and divide the line into years. Above and below the line write down moments you remember and things people tell about you.

Add more as time goes on. Draw pictures, put in historical events, and dates. Record good times and sad times. Store your roll in a cylinder for protection.
